

Supreme Court's Ruling on Prayer Stirs Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling striking down the saying of official prayers in public schools has stirred a cauldron of criticism from churchmen and members of Congress.

Many of them asked, "How far does it go?"

"The next thing you know, they'll be telling us we can't open our daily House sessions with prayer," said Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va. A Jewish leader, who hailed the decision, felt it made clear that federal funds could not be used to aid parochial schools.

Meanwhile, Senator John F. Kennedy, R-Md., said today he will propose a constitutional amendment to permit prayer in the public schools.

"I was shocked by yesterday's decision of the Supreme Court," Beall said, "and I feel that legislation should be introduced immediately to reaffirm the nation's faith and trust in the Supreme Being."

Beal said he was checking the language of his proposed amendment with constitutional lawyers, but expected to introduce it in the Senate later this week.

He said the amendment proposal would declare in essence that nothing in the Constitution should be interpreted to "deny the right of any school to make available to its students periodic expressions of prayer or religious observance, provided that participation by students shall not be mandatory."

Specifically the court ruled Monday that it is a violation of the Constitution for New York State to authorize the saying of the following prayer in public schools:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

In a 6-1 decision the court said the First Amendment's ban against establishment of a religion means that "it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of American people to recite as part of a religious program carried on by government."

The decision—written by Justice Hugo L. Black—likely will have broad impact.

Some states require public schools to begin each day with the Lord's Prayer. The wording of Black's opinion indicated these state laws also violate the First Amendment.

Wrote Black: "It is neither sacreligious nor antireligious to say that each separate government in this country should stay out of the business of writing or sanctioning official prayers and leave that purely religious function to the people themselves and those the people choose to look to for religious guidance."

The only dissenter in the decision was Justice Potter Stewart who noted that the Supreme Court's own sessions are opened with the words "God save the United States and this honorable court," and that the House and Senate begin the day with prayers.

In the majority decision, Black noted parenthetically that there is nothing in the ruling "inconsistent with the fact that school children and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contains references to the deity or by singing officially espoused anthems which include the composer's professions of faith in a supreme being or with the fact that there are many manifestations in our public life of belief in God."

While there were many expressions of protest, there were also voices raised in approval of the ruling.

Freeze Welding in Brain Helps Halt Shaking Palsy

CHICAGO (AP) — Freeze welding in the brain is halting the uncontrolled shaking and rigidity of muscles in shaking palsy.

Brain cells causing the trouble are frozen or welded with liquid nitrogen at a temperature of 150 degrees below zero. The nitrogen is forced down a narrow tube leading to the trouble spot.

The technique is painless, bloodless, and can stop the shaking in 85 per cent of properly selected patients, Dr. Irving S. Cooper of New York City said today.

The same method looks promising for destroying some brain tumors, but this work still is experimental, he told the American Medical Association's 111th annual convention. The tumors become frozen solid, and are left to shrivel away. This may permit surgery of tumors which cannot be reached otherwise, he said.

Dr. Cooper, of St. Barnabas Hospital for Chronic Diseases and New York University Medical Center, devised the freeze method within the last year for treating shaking palsy, or Parkinson's disease.

He uses a thin cannula consisting of an inner and outer tube, with a silver tip. This is inserted to reach the area where brain cells are firing off wild electrical signals.

Liquid nitrogen forced down the inside tube freezes the silver tip. As the nitrogen vaporizes, it escapes up through the outer tube. Cooling the brain for 30 seconds at 32 degrees gives time to test whether the silver tip is in the right place to halt the shaking. If it isn't, no harm is done, Dr. Cooper said. If it is correctly placed, then deep freezing for three to five minutes destroys the guilty area to halt the tremors and rigidity.

Some patients go home within four days after surgery. One man, 75, was home a week later with his shaking halted. "Many patients return to their old jobs," Dr. Cooper said.

The death risk is less than one per cent, Dr. Cooper said. The Public Health Service estimates there are 300,000 persons with Parkinson's disease, and 25,000 to 43,000 new cases annually.

Airline Faces New Walkout

Court Hearing Slated On Pan-Am Injunction

NEW YORK (AP) — Possible resumption of the flight engineers' strike against Pan American World Airways hinged on the outcome of a federal court hearing today.

Daniel Kornblum, counsel to the engineers' union, predicted that the U.S. District Court in New York would lift the temporary restraining order which ended the strike four hours after it started last Saturday. Kornblum called the ban clearly untenable under the law.

Ron A. Brown, president of the union, said that if the temporary order is lifted, Pan Am's 500 flight engineers will strike again immediately.

Today's hearing before Judge George Rosling was on whether a full-fledged injunction against a strike should be issued. Union counsel have been called upon to show cause why such an injunction should not be granted.

Rosling issued the temporary order Saturday on a plea by Pan Am. Rosling acted under terms of the National Railway Labor Act, which covers transportation.

Eastern Air Lines — struck Saturday at the same time as Pan Am — has been closed down since then by the walkout of its 575 flight engineers. A spokesman for Eastern said it did not seek an order similar to that obtained by Pan Am because Eastern's position was "somewhat different." He did not elaborate.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said in Washington that negotiations of the AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Association are deadlocked with both Pan Am and Eastern.

The issue is basically a fight by the engineers against losing jobs to pilots, who are members of the larger AFL-CIO Air Line Pilots Association. Jet airliner cockpit crews are soon to be reduced from four men to three, and the scrap is over who shall get the third seat in the cockpit along with two pilots.

Thousands of Europeans turned out after daylight to witness the latest secret army effort to turn Oran into scorched earth before Moslems take over an independent Algeria.

Huge traffic jams formed on the waterfront boulevard 200 feet above the waterline. Many Europeans honked car horns in the five-beat French settler slogan "Al-ge-rie Fran-caise" (Algeria is French).

No one was reported injured in the fires. Secret army demolitionists warned away workers before touching off their plastic bombs.

Shortly after the blasts, two ships filled with Europeans bound for France sailed out of the harbor, passing within 100 yards of the flames.

Savings Bank Buys Theater For $35,000

Drive-In Service To Be Constructed At Opera House Site

The Grand Theater Building, N. Court and Pinckney Sts., was purchased yesterday by the Savings Bank. The corner is to be the future site of the financial institution's drive-in banking service.

The theater and residence property, facing Pinckney St., were sold as one unit for $35,000. The single bid, submitted by the bank, was the lowest bid acceptable and was less than two-thirds of the appraised value.

Approximately 50 persons lined the walls of the courthouse lobby yesterday when the sale was conducted. The building and real estate were sold at public auction by C. G. Chaffin to settle the estate of the late Ida P. Bingham.

Chakera's Theaters, currently renting the building, recently announced plans for a $50,000 improvement of the Cliftona Theater. The bank is to take possession of the Grand in 30 days.

J. C. Van Pelt, executive vice president of The Savings Bank, said today that the building will be torn down. The corner lot is to be the location of a drive-in banking service.

Plans to construct drive-in facilities in the building formerly occupied by the Cussins and Fearn Co. were abandoned, Van Pelt said, due to obstacles that would make the proposed drive-in service inadequate.

The old C & F building, purchased by the bank from Harry Clifton, will be disposed of in the near future as plans for the new site progress.

Directors of the bank met with an architect today. Preliminary sketches of the new location for the drive-in are to be completed in 10 days.

Van Pelt indicated that an application would be filed today for a branch office of the bank. Previous plans at the C & F building did not require the branch procedure because the buildings would have been connected via an underground passage.

No announcement was made as to when demolition of the building will begin.

Fleeing Youth Handcuffed To Car Wheel

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — An 18-year-old youth was handcuffed to the steering wheel of his car when Willoughby police arrested him at the end of a high-speed chase in Lake County today.

The youth, Robert Schneider, told deputies he was from Akron. The chase started at the intersection of U.S. 20 and Ohio 306, where Deputy Lewis Picknor said he saw Schneider get into his car carrying the coin box from a soft drink machine taken from a service station.

Picknor said he told Schneider to give him the box and when Schneider put his hand out the car window, Picknor snapped his handcuffs on one wrist.

The youth got the car moving, Picknor said, and as he did the other end of the handcuffs snapped onto the car wheel.

Picknor started after him and fired three times. The rear window of the car was smashed by one shot before Schneider outdistanced the police car.

Willoughby police, alerted by a radio broadcast, stopped Schneider on Eagle Road in Kirtland Township.

Third of Ohio Assembly Nominees OK Seminar COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About one-third of the nominees for seats in the Ohio General Assembly were expected to attend Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's seminar on state government problems at Ohio State University today.

U.S., British Eye China Buildup

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home reportedly believe Red China's military buildup in Fukien Province does not foreshadow an attempt on the Nationalist-held offshore islands. They think it may be meant to silence Chiang Kai-shek's threats to invade the mainland.

Spokesmen said Rusk and Home reached this conclusion Monday in wide-ranging talks that paid much attention to the Communist buildup opposite the Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu, just off the Communist mainland.

In Peiping, Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi charged that the Nationalists are preparing with U.S. help for a large-scale invasion of the Southeast China coast. The Communists continued to shell Quemoy and Matsu Monday night, lobbing 132 shells on Quemoy and 45 on Matsu.

The talks aligning British-American views on Communist threats and inter-Allied problems followed Rusk's meetings with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn. Rusk's aides expressed belief his trip has helped clarify some misconception among chief allies of America over aspects of U.S. policy.

Rusk's round of talks heralded the start of a period of intensive maneuvering between the Communists and the Western powers.

The three Western Allies sent notes to Moscow Monday calling on the Soviet Union to join four-power talks in Berlin to end violence along the Berlin wall and try to bring peace to the divided city.

The work is being done under a broad program aimed at giving each soldier entering a combat zone his own built-in shield against diseases, climate, and various kinds of stress.

Dr. Marion B. Sulzberger of the Army Medical Research and Development Command said a big effort is being made to discover special substances which would enter the skin after being swallowed or applied on the outside.

These substances, he said in a paper, would make the skin's surface and its secretion repellent to insects, flies, mosquitoes and ticks, which carry most of the important diseases affecting military operations.

A major avenue of approach, the Army dermatologist said, is intensive study of the differences between skin of people who naturally attract insects and others whose body chemistry repels them.

For greater protection against sunburn, Sulzberger said, the goal is a chemical which will become incorporated in the skin's surface and enhance its capacity to filter out the burning rays.

A more remote prospect involves developing chemicals that would enable the skin to withstand the white-hot flash from a nuclear explosion.

A grand jury investigation into steel prices was ordered April 13 by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy after seven companies announced $6-a-ton price increases. The inquiry continued after the hike was rescinded in the face of administration protests.

A Justice Department source said the subpoenas were part of the continuing inquiry and do not represent any new investigation. Kennedy declined comment.

The search into expense account information reportedly extends back to June 1961.

Ohio Educators Eye School Prayer Rule COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A study will be needed before it can be determined how much effect the U. S. Supreme Court decision on the New York public school prayer will have on Ohio, Dr. E. E. Holt, Ohio superintendent of public instruction, says.

The Supreme Court held Monday that the offering of a 22-word daily prayer in New York State's public schools violates the U. S. Constitution.

Holt said the Ohio Board of Education does not have the authority the New York Board of Regents possesses to recommend a prayer for schools. He pointed out that local boards are empowered to establish their own rules and regulations and to adopt their own curricula.

Some Changes In Bill Slated

Blue Cross Is Talked As Governing Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders reported today they are going through with plans to start action in the Senate chamber on the Kennedy administration medical care program now stalled in a House committee.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the ranking Senate Democrat, told newsmen after he and other party leaders in Congress had breakfast with President Kennedy that the move will be made the end of this week.

Mansfield said there probably would be additions to the administration measure, along the line of bringing in the Blue Cross as an administering body and providing coverage for elderly persons not on the Social Security rolls.

The administration bill would finance medical care for men and women over 65 through the Social Security taxes.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Senate sponsor of the legislation, said last week he would try to attach it as an amendment to some other bill pending in the Senate. He also suggested the possibility of letting the Blue Cross system handle the care of several million persons who never got into the Social Security system.

The leadership report bore out speculation that the administration would make changes in its program in an effort to attract support from wavering Congress members and would concentrate on the Senate as a springboard for putting the bill in motion.

House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said the strategy does not mean the leadership has given up on the possibility of getting action in the House Ways and Means Committee, where the bill is snagged in controversy. He said the House can take concurrent action.

Ole Miss Ordered To Admit Negro JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ordered U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize to issue an injunction forcing the University of Mississippi to admit a Negro. It is the first school desegregation decision affecting Mississippi.

The appeals court ruled Monday in New Orleans that Mize, 74, a graduate of Ole Miss, turned down the application of James H. Meredith for transfer to the university solely because he was a Negro.

Mize ruled in February that Meredith had been rejected on non-racial grounds. Mize made that ruling after he had been directed by the appeals court to hear the Negro's suit on its merits. Meredith brought the suit 17 months ago after the university rejected two applications for admission.

The appellate decision set no deadline for Mize to issue an injunction, and the state is expected to appeal.

Circuit Judge John Minor Wisdom, in writing the decision, said: "We see no valid, non-discriminatory reason for the university's not accepting Meredith."

The opinion noted that from the moment the university discovered Meredith was a Negro, it engaged "in a carefully calculated campaign of delay, harassment, and mastery inactivity."

Burns Fatal to Man Trying To Save Woman COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William Cline Sr., 38, who suffered burns in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue a woman from a flaming car, died in Mt. Carmel Hospital Monday night.

Cline tried to pull Mrs. Jennie Kloppe, 78, from the rear seat of his car when it burst into flames after being struck in the rear by another car on West Mound Street here.

The issue must be decided quickly since the bill also extends for another year $4 billion of federal revenues involved in the corporation income and major excise tax rates.

These rates will drop automatically at midnight Saturday if President Kennedy has not signed the legislation.

The transportation levies now bring in $235 million a year. All but $104 million of this would be lost on an annual basis under the bill.

Kirkersville Boy Mysteriously Shot

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Licking County authorities were continuing their search for clues to learn who fired a .22 caliber bullet which struck 13-year-old David Hoch in the neck Monday and killed him.

The youth and a friend, Randy Sweetman, 11, were reading a book in Hoch's back yard just south of nearby Kirkersville.

David suddenly collapsed and Randy said at first he thought his friend was playing. Then he said he noticed tears and ran for David's mother, Mrs. Clyda Mansfield, who was in the house.

When she came out David was dead.

Supreme Court's Ruling on Prayer Stirs Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling striking down the saying of official prayers in public schools has stirred a cauldron of criticism from churchmen and members of Congress.

Many of them asked, "How far does it go?"

"The next thing you know, they'll be telling us we can't open our daily House sessions with prayer," said Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va. A Jewish leader, who hailed the decision, felt it made clear that federal funds could not be used to aid parochial schools.

Meanwhile, Senator John Glenn Beall, R-Md., said today he will propose a constitutional amendment to permit prayer in the public schools.

"I was shocked by yesterday's decision of the Supreme Court," Beall said, "and I feel that legislation should be introduced immediately to reaffirm the nation's faith and trust in the Supreme Being."

Beal said he was checking the language of his proposed amendment with constitutional lawyers, but expected to introduce it in the Senate later this week.

He said the amendment proposal would declare in essence that nothing in the Constitution should be interpreted to "deny the right of any school to make available to its students periodic expressions of prayer or religious observance, provided that participation by students shall not be mandatory."

Specifically the court ruled Monday that it is a violation of the Constitution for New York State to authorize the saying of the following prayer in public schools:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

In a 6-1 decision the court said the First Amendment's ban against establishment of a religion means that "it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of American people to recite as part of a religious program carried on by government."

The decision—written by Justice Hugo L. Black—likely will have broad impact.

Some states require public schools to begin each day with the Lord's Prayer. The wording of Black's opinion indicated these state laws also violate the First Amendment.

Wrote Black: "It is neither sacrosanct nor antireligious to say that each separate government in this country should stay out of the business of writing or sanctioning official prayers and leave that purely religious function to the people themselves and those the people choose to look to for religious guidance."

The only dissenter in the decision was Justice Potter Stewart who noted that the Supreme Court's own sessions are opened with the words "God save the United States and this honorable court," and that the House and Senate begin the day with prayers.

In the majority decision, Black noted parenthetically that there is nothing in the ruling "inconsistent with the fact that school children and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contains references to the deity or by singing officially espoused anthems which include the composer's professions of faith in a supreme being or with the fact that there are many manifestations in our public life of belief in God."

While there were many expressions of protest, there were also voices raised in approval of the ruling.

Terrorists Set Fires in Oran Harbor

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Raging fuel oil fires touched off by Secret Army Organization terrorists in Oran harbor last sent huge clouds of black smoke billowing over this western Algerian seaport today.

Terrorists blew up three British Petroleum Co. tanks late Monday and the burning oil quickly ignited seven other tanks in the dock area. Fed by an estimated 2.6 million gallons of gasoline, flames continued to shoot skyward today, but a threat to other dock front oil tanks and a military depot appeared over.

Overworked firemen poured tons of water on the undamaged oil tanks to keep the fire from spreading. Harbor traffic was paralyzed.

Fleeing Youth Handcuffed To Car Wheel

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old youth was handcuffed to the steering wheel of his car when Willoughby police arrested him at the end of a high-speed chase in Lake County today.

The youth, Robert Schneider, told deputies he was from Akron. The chase started at the intersection of U.S. 20 and Ohio 306, where Deputy Lewis Pickner said he saw Schneider get into his car carrying the coin box from a soft drink machine taken from a service station.

Pickner said he told Schneider to give him the box and when Schneider put his hand out the car window, Pickner snapped his handcuffs on one wrist.

The youth got the car moving, Pickner said, and as he did the other end of the handcuffs snapped onto the car wheel.

Pickner started after him and fired three times. The rear window of the car was smashed by one shot before Schneider outdistanced the police car.

Willoughby police, alerted by a radio broadcast, stopped Schneider on Eagle Road in Kirtland Township.

Third of Ohio Assembly Nominees OK Seminar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About one-third of the nominees for seats in the Ohio General Assembly were expected to attend Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's seminar on state government problems at Ohio State University today.

Of the 310 candidates for the 155 House and Senate seats to be filled in the November election, 63 Democrats and 34 Republicans have accepted invitations, DiSalle said.

U.S., British Eye China Buildup

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home reportedly believe Red China's military buildup in Fukien Province does not foreshadow an attempt on the Nationalist-held offshore islands. They think it may be meant to silence Chiang Kai-shek's threats to invade the mainland.

Spokesmen said Rusk and Home reached this conclusion Monday in wide-ranging talks that paid much attention to the Communist buildup opposite the Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu, just off the Communist mainland.

In Peiping, Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi charged that the Nationalists are preparing with U.S. help for a large-scale invasion of the Southeast China coast. The Communists continued to shell Quemoy and Matsu Monday night, lobbing 132 shells on Quemoy and 45 on Matsu.

The talks aligning British-American views on Communist threats and inter-Allied problems followed Rusk's meetings with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn. Rusk's aides expressed belief his trip has helped clarify some misconception among chief allies of America over aspects of U.S. policy.

Rusk's round of talks heralded the start of a period of intensive maneuvering between the Communists and the Western powers.

The three Western Allies sent notes to Moscow Monday calling on the Soviet Union to join four-power talks in Berlin to end violence along the Berlin wall and try to bring peace to the divided city.

Grand Jury To Get Data On Steel Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has demanded expense account and other information from steel company executives in continuing a probe into April's on-and-off steel price raise.

Informed sources said Monday subpoenas for information from some executives went out about three weeks ago in connection with department efforts to determine whether the price boost involved collusion.

The U.S. Steel Corp. said in New York that the government had subpoenaed telephone numbers and expense account information of some executives.

The Dow Jones business news service reported from Pittsburgh that similar records were subpoenaed from Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Wheeling Steel Corp. and that Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. was understood to have been served.

A grand jury investigation into steel prices was ordered April 18 by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy after seven companies announced $6-a-ton price increases. The inquiry continued after the hike was rescinded in the face of administration protests.

A Justice Department source said the subpoenas were part of the continuing inquiry and do not represent any new investigation. Kennedy declined comment.

The search into expense account information reportedly extends back to June 1961.

Ohio Educators Eye School Prayer Rule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A study will be needed before it can be determined how much effect the U. S. Supreme Court decision on the New York public school prayer will have on Ohio, Dr. E. E. Holt, Ohio superintendent of public instruction, says.

The Supreme Court held Monday that the offering of a 22-word daily prayer in New York State's public schools violates the U. S. Constitution.

Holt said the Ohio Board of Education does not have the authority the New York Board of Regents possesses to recommend a prayer for schools. He pointed out that local boards are empowered to establish their own rules and regulations and to adopt their own curricula.

Rusk and Home agreed to attend the signing next month of a 14-power pact being written at Geneva to guarantee the neutrality of Laos. If Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko also attends, it would provide an opportunity to confer anew on Berlin, disarmament, nuclear tests and other East-West problems.

Summing up the results of Rusk's trip so far, his aides said he had not come over to break up what had been called the Paris-Bonn axis because that would be against America's own interests.

He had not brought along any plan to help France's nuclear weapons program, but he gave assurances that America stands ready to help build up a multilateral European nuclear force dovetailed with American nuclear might.

Built-In Shield Sought for GIs

Science Seeks Armor Against Bugs, Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army medical scientists are on the track of chemicals which may convert a soldier's skin into armor against disease-bearing insects and sunburn.

The research is specially important to military operations in Southeast Asia and other tropical areas where Western troops are vulnerable to certain types of fevers and strong sunlight.

The work is being done under a broad program aimed at giving each soldier entering a combat zone his own built-in shield against diseases, climate, and various kinds of stress.

Dr. Marion B. Sulzberger of the Army Medical Research and Development Command said a big effort is being made to discover special substances which would enter the skin after being swallowed or applied on the outside.

These substances, he said in a paper, would make the skin's surface and its secretion repellent to insects, flies, mosquitoes and ticks, which carry most of the important diseases affecting military operations.

A major avenue of approach, the Army dermatologist said, is intensive study of the differences between skin of people who naturally attract insects and others whose body chemistry repels them.

For greater protection against sunburn, Sulzberger said, the goal is a chemical which will become incorporated in the skin's surface and enhance its capacity to filter out the burning rays.

A more remote prospect involves developing chemicals that would enable the skin to withstand the white-hot flash from a nuclear explosion.

Travel Tax Is Halved In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — For only a few more months will travelers have to shell out 10 per cent on their tickets.

Both Senate and House have voted to end the travelers' tax—a World War II measure — for train and bus passengers and to cut it to 5 per cent for airlines.

But the date must be settled in a Senate-House conference.

The Senate voted Monday to make the transportation tax reductions effective Oct. 1. The House, in passing the same bill earlier, had fixed Jan. 1 next year.

The issue must be decided quickly since the bill also extends for another year $4 billion of federal revenues involved in the corporation income and major excise tax rates.

These rates will drop automatically at midnight Saturday if President Kennedy has not signed the legislation.

The transportation levies now bring in $235 million a year. All but $104 million of this would be lost on an annual basis under the bill.

Some Changes In Bill Slated

Blue Cross Is Talked As Governing Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders reported today they are going through with plans to start action in the Senate chamber on the Kennedy administration medical care program now stalled in a House committee.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the ranking Senate Democrat, told newsmen after he and other party leaders in Congress had breakfast with President Kennedy that the move will be made the end of this week.

Mansfield said there probably would be additions to the administration measure, along the line of bringing in the Blue Cross as an administering body and providing coverage for elderly persons not on the Social Security rolls.

The administration bill would finance medical care for men and women over 65 through the Social Security taxes.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Senate sponsor of the legislation, said last week he would try to attach it as an amendment to some other bill pending in the Senate. He also suggested the possibility of letting the Blue Cross system handle the care of several million persons who never got into the Social Security system.

The leadership report bore out speculation that the administration would make changes in its program in an effort to attract support from wavering Congress members and would concentrate on the Senate as a springboard for putting the bill in motion.

House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said the strategy does not mean the leadership has given up on the possibility of getting action in the House Ways and Means Committee, where the bill is snagged in controversy. He said the House can take concurrent action.

Ole Miss Ordered To Admit Negro

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ordered U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize to issue an injunction forcing the University of Mississippi to admit a Negro. It is the first school desegregation decision affecting Mississippi.

The appeals court ruled Monday in New Orleans that Mize, 74, a graduate of Ole Miss, turned down the application of James H. Meredith for transfer to the university solely because he was a Negro.

Mize ruled in February that Meredith had been rejected on non-racial grounds. Mize made that ruling after he had been directed by the appeals court to hear the Negro's suit on its merits. Meredith brought the suit 17 months ago after the university rejected two applications for admission.

The appellate decision set no deadline for Mize to issue an injunction, and the state is expected to appeal.

Circuit Judge John Minor Wisdom, in writing the decision, said: "We see no valid, non-discriminatory reason for the university's not accepting Meredith."

The opinion noted that from the moment the university discovered Meredith was a Negro, it engaged "in a carefully calculated campaign of delay, harassment, and mastery inactivity."

Ratterman Civil Rights Jury Deadlocks, Given Dismissal

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A U.S. District Court jury, reporting it was hopelessly deadlocked, was dismissed today in the three-week long trial over whether six men violated the civil rights of Campbell County Sheriff George Ratterman.
The discharge of the jury by Judge Mac Swinford came just at noon on the third day of deliberations by the jury of nine men and three women.
After jury Foreman F. E. Despain reported the deadlock, he explained to the judge that the jury was unable to reach a verdict on any phase of the case.
It could have found any or all of the six defendants guilty or innocent on either or both of the two charges. The charges were conspiracy to violate Ratterman's civil rights in a vice raid arrest on May 9, 1961, or of actually violating his civil rights.
Judge Swinford then polled the other jurors. They all said they could not reach a verdict.
The judge declared it was "disappointing to the court but I respect your decision you cannot reach a verdict."
Defense attorneys immediately announced they had several motions to make, and the judge said he would hear them at 1:30 p. m.
It was learned from a juror that the general vote was three for acquittal of all defendants, three for conviction of all defendants and six for a split verdict of one sort or another.
Quenton Kent of Florence, a juror who late Monday expressed belief there was a chance for a partial verdict, said after dismissal that he honestly felt a divided decision could be reached.
But he shrugged his shoulders as he said "we couldn't do it."
Another report from the jury indicated the main point of issue in the jury dispute was the credibility of the various witnesses.
The case involves government charges that there was both a conspiracy and actual violation of the civil rights of Ratterman. He was a reform ticket candidate for sheriff when he was arrested in a room in the Glenn Hotel in Newport May 9, 1961, with a strip tease dancer. He claimed he had been drugged and framed and was cleared of all charges in Newport Police Court.
The six charged in the civil rights case are the present Newport police chief, Upshere White, and detectives Pat Ciafardini and Tito Carinci, then co-owners of the Glenn and the Tropicana nightclub in the same building, and Fort Thomas attorney Charles E. Lester.

Suspicion Leads Patrol To Robber

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An overly suspicious-looking man caused two Ohio Highway patrolmen to start asking questions Monday. It resulted in the arrest of a man who admitted robbing the City Savings and Loan Co. office here a few hours earlier.
Manager Jack Houser told news-men about $500 was taken, but $2,053 was found on the suspect.
Being held is William Carl Mueller Jr., 28, of Rt. 5, Medina. Patrolmen said Mueller also admitted taking about $360 from a branch of the same firm in Wil-lard June 21.
Mueller, on parole from Ohio Penitentiary where he was serving time for a Cleveland robbery, was apprehended near Bucyrus after he pulled his car off the highway as a patrol cruiser approached and then started at the officers as they passed.
The officers, Cpl. R. W. Sack and patrolman C. R. Davy, said the man acted so strangely they turned around and stopped for a routine check. When they noticed he fit a description of the holdup man they searched the car, found a .32 caliber revolver and the money. Mueller then admitted the robbery, patrolmen said.

Bandit Robs Bank As Guard Lunches

CLEVELAND (AP)—While the guard at the Cleveland Trust Co. branch at 10518 Superior Ave. NE was out to lunch Monday, a man used a note and his hand in his pocket to rob teller Donald J. Clark, 22, of $2,173.
Clark told police a disheveled man about 25 years old handed him an envelope and a note reading: "Put all your 20s, 50s and 10s into the envelope or I'll use my gun."
Clark said the man's left hand was in his pocket and he could have been holding a gun. Clark put the money in the envelope and the man grabbed it and left. Clark then sounded the alarm.

Objection To Sewer Project Is Filed with Commissioners

A written objection to the revised Ashville - Teays Valley Storm Sewer District was received yesterday in the office of the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners.
The objection was submitted by Mrs. Ruth Cline of Ashville. Her letter contends that proposed assessments on certain parcels of her land exceed the value of the property.

Mrs. Cline, wife of Probate Judge Guy Cline, said the assessment value question pertains especially to the northwest portion of a 4-acre plat where land cannot be sold at the present time, but can only be used for agricultural purposes.
Meanwhile, the Commission adopted a resolution to proceed with the controversial project. Final action on the written objection was not taken.

Texas Opens Fraud Trial Against Estes

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—In a move that surprised fellow townsmen and state officials, Bille Sol Estes won immediate trial Monday on charges he defrauded another farmer of $162,144.
One of Estes's lawyers, Hume Cofer, said the defense would show the complainant was fully aware of the fertilizer tanks contract involved and there was no fraud on the part of the 37-year old promoter.

Estes was indicted April 26 by the Reeves County grand jury on eight counts of felony theft in the sale of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks to six farmers. The six claimed they were bilked of $828,576 in the transactions.
The current trial involves only one count, which accuses Estes of defrauding Thomas A. Bell of $162,144.

There was speculation about what bearing the request for an immediate trial on the state charge would have, since Estes is also under federal indictments. The government charges he and others swindled finance companies out of $22 million loaned on mostly non-existent fertilizer tanks.

How can this car have so much extra—and still be almost low-priced? Answer... it's a Buick...in name, styling, quality and resale value. Yet its price is right close to many models of the "low-priced" cars. So before you do any buying, come see how little extra it costs to get all the extra values included in LeSabre's surprisingly low price. Some examples...finned aluminum front brakes—safest made! A 401-cu. in. Wildcat V-8. Exclusive Advanced Thrust engineering that moves the engine forward—gives you straight tracking, flat cornering—and a nearly flat front floor! Turbine Drive automatic transmission—smoothest there is! And lots more you'd never guess LeSabre gives you. Your Buick dealer's great trades make LeSabre an even greater buy right now!

Ratterman Civil Rights Jury Deadlocks, Given Dismissal

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A U.S. District Court jury, reporting it was hopelessly deadlocked, was dismissed today in the three-week-long trial over whether six men violated the civil rights of Campbell County Sheriff George Ratterman.

The discharge of the jury by Judge Mac Swinford came just at noon on the third day of deliberations by the jury of nine men and three women.

After jury Foreman F. E. Despain reported the deadlock, he explained to the judge that the jury was unable to reach a verdict on any phase of the case.

It could have found any or all of the six defendants guilty or innocent on either or both of the two charges. The charges were conspiracy to violate Ratterman's civil rights in a vice raid arrest on May 9, 1961, or of actually violating his civil rights.

Judge Swinford then polled the other jurors. They all said they could not reach a verdict.

The judge declared it was "disappointing to the court but I respect your decision you cannot reach a verdict."

Defense attorneys immediately announced they had several motions to make, and the judge said he would hear them at 1:30 p. m.

It was learned from a juror that the general vote was three for acquittal of all defendants, three for conviction of all defendants and six for a split verdict of one sort or another.

Quenton Kent of Florence, a juror who late Monday expressed belief there was a chance for a partial verdict, said after dismissal that he honestly felt a divided decision could be reached.

But he shrugged his shoulders as he said "we couldn't do it."

Another report from the jury indicated the main point of issue in the jury dispute was the credibility of the various witnesses.

The case involves government charges that there was both a conspiracy and actual violation of the civil rights of Ratterman. He was a reform ticket candidate for sheriff when he was arrested in a room in the Glenn Hotel in Newport May 9, 1961, with a strip tease dancer. He claimed he had been drugged and framed and was cleared of all charges in Newport Police Court.

The six charged in the civil rights case are the present Newport police chief, Upshere White, and detectives Pat Ciafardini and Tito Carinci, then co-owners of the Glenn and the Tropicana nightclub in the same building, and Fort Thomas attorney Charles E. Lester.

Suspicion Leads Patrol To Robber

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An overly suspicious-looking man caused two Ohio Highway patrolmen to start asking questions Monday. It resulted in the arrest of a man who admitted robbing the City Savings and Loan Co. office here a few hours earlier.

Manager Jack Houser told newsmen about $500 was taken, but $2,053 was found on the suspect.

Being held is William Carl Mueller Jr., 28, of Rt. 5, Medina. Patrolmen said Mueller also admitted taking about $360 from a branch of the same firm in Willard June 21.

Mueller, on parole from Ohio Penitentiary where he was serving time for a Cleveland robbery, was apprehended near Bucyrus after he pulled his car off the highway as a patrol cruiser approached and then crashed at the officers as they passed.

The officers, Cpl. R. W. Sack and patrolman C. R. Davy, said the man acted so strangely they turned around and stopped for a routine check. When they noticed he fit a description of the holdup man they searched the car, found a .32 caliber revolver and the money. Mueller then admitted the robbery, patrolmen said.

Avenues of Help Opened For Relatives of Alcoholics

EDITOR'S NOTE—The tragedy of the alcoholic is not restricted to the one person who cannot control his thirst for a drink. A life shattered wreaks fearful damage on those close by. In this second in a five-part series, an Associated Press writer reports the new avenues of help being opened for the mates and children of alcoholics.

By BERNARD GAVZER
Associated Press Writer

How terrible it is to hate someone you should love; how hard it is to love someone who is so hateful.

Love and hate for the same person make a strange combination. But to the child or wife of an alcoholic, intermixing love and hate are familiar, twisting threads in painful, constant emotional crisis.

"I hated him, despised him, wished he'd die," admits the gentle-looking, gray-haired grandmother.

Her companions in Al-Anon nod in understanding. They, too, have suffered from an alcoholic mate. "Sometimes I loved my father and mother, sometimes I hated them," says the 16-year-old beauty. "I hated them more than I loved them. I couldn't understand why they were doing this to me."

Her companions in Alateens—nine boys and nine other girls who have an alcoholic parent or parents—recognize her torture. Their feelings are important. They must be expressed—not in horror stories recounting the alcoholics' misdeeds—but in terms of their own reaction, their feeling. By exploring these feelings, they hope to reach understanding.

Al-Anon and Alateen are adjuncts to Alcoholics Anonymous, the fellowship of alcoholics that is widely credited with doing inestimable work in helping persons with drinking problems. The only requirement for membership in AA is a desire to stop drinking. It is nonsectarian.

After more than 25 years of service, AA has a proven record: At least 300,000 persons who have stayed sober after long histories of problem drinking.

But while AA seeks to dry out the drunk and keep him sober, what about the other wreckage? There's plenty, for the alcoholic leaves in his wake debt and disorder, and pains that need long soothing. And he, too, needs something from those he's hurt: an understanding of what they may have done to make him the way he was, or to keep him from recovering.

Al-Anon grew informally from the AA group, its name is merely an enlarged abbreviation of Alcoholics Anonymous. Mates of alcoholics sometimes acted as unofficial hostesses at AA meetings, passing out soft drink and coffee and cake. They began discussing mutual problems and eventually this turned into concrete soul searching. Soon little groups were founded, usually wives but occasionally including the husband or a woman alcoholic, and an organization was formally incorporated in 1954. Now there are 2,000 Al-Anon groups in the U.S., Canada and 20 foreign countries. Members are not solely mates of those in AA. In a good many groups, the members are mates of drinking alcoholics.

Three years later, in 1957, Alateen arose. It specifically geared itself toward helping children of alcoholics and was started by a teen-ager in California. There are 200 such groups today.

The goal for both is the same: to lead them to sufficient understanding so that they can live with the alcoholic.

At an Alateen meeting in a New York suburb recently, a girl of 16 opened the meeting with the "serenity prayer":

"God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and wisdom to know the difference."

At an Al-Anon group, meeting on a Monday afternoon in the heart of Manhattan, a dozen women considered just one main question, based on the AA's Sixth Step. This asks whether the alcoholic is "entirely ready to have God remove" all the defects of character uncovered in "a search of ourselves."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A man whose antics broke up a Sunday School session at his church was shot and killed by a policeman trying to arrest him.

Officers said Lawrence Woodward, 32, Nashville Negro, was shot Sunday by patrolman William Adecock after Woodward grabbed the patrolman's night stick and began beating him with it.

The Rev. Anthony Rouquier, who called police, said Woodward was in the pulpit playing a transistor radio.

"When he started tearing up the Bible page by page, we suspected that something was wrong with him, and when he kicked over the pulpit, we knew there was," the minister said.

New Zealand May Be Interested

It may be the summer heat, or perhaps a realization that jet travel has not shortened ocean distances everywhere, but New Zealanders are openly discussing the possibility of the United States adding a 51st star to the flag — for New Zealand.

Statehood has been a topic of conversation in New Zealand for many years, largely because of the common ancestry and language similarity between the U. S. and the South Pacific island. But it is only in recent months that a serious tone has been detected in statehood speculation.

Possible Common Market membership by Britain is the main contributing factor. Britain's traditional close trade ties with its Commonwealth members undoubtedly will be seriously affected if it enters the European Economic Community. Some of the larger Commonwealth members like Canada have well established world trade markets independent of their Commonwealth ties, but many of the smaller ones do not.

As a predominantly agricultural country, New Zealand possesses little manufacture, and is thus heavily dependent upon trade for its non-food commodities. It has a high standard of living, but its remote location makes it dependent upon the United States for protection.

Britain's entry into the Common Market, if and when it comes, could produce many trade realignments in this half of the globe. These would not necessarily involve political absorption unless an East-West military struggle should develop. Only a minority of New Zealand's population is now seriously advocating voluntary withdrawal from the Commonwealth and jointure with the United States.

Trade is a powerful incentive in the development of political associations, particularly to a small country dependent upon imports for its existence. The world is now undergoing a trade evolution which could prove to be the most far-reaching in history. Who can predict what alignments may be the eventual outcome?

Red Pang of Hunger

Food shortages are in the news from three places currently.

The Soviet Union is short of many items, but particularly of grain, meat and butter. Cuba is barely on subsistence rations. Red China has millions virtually starving.

No opportunity should be lost to the underdeveloped nations eying communism as a system they think might serve them best the one thing these three countries have in common.

The international hammer-and-sickle symbol of communism should be replaced by one showing a food queue ending at a sign reading "All gone."

Tribute Awaits U.S. Composer

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—At 4 the little boy reached up and touched the piano keys, and the sound thrilled him.

At 6 he could play by ear, using both hands.

At 9 he was inventing melodies of his own.

And now, 1,000 tunes and 39 musical shows later, Richard Rodgers will be honored at a 60th birthday luncheon Thursday by cultural and civic leaders as one of the most popular composers in history.

This landmark in his life finds him busy as ever. Broadway lights beam his latest hit, "No Strings," for which he wrote both words and music. Rodgers and his latest collaborator, lyricist Jay Lerner, now are working on a new and a yet untitled show—his 40th. "How do I feel?" asked Rodgers. "I feel ambivalent."

"I hate being 60 from a chronological point of view, but I'm proud of being 60 and still functioning at what I love best."

"It is nothing to do a thing at 30, 35 or 40. But it's nice to have a head at 60—and working on a new show."

His expression of habitual reserve broke into a wide, dark-eyed smile.

"It turns out that just because you were born in 1902, you're not necessarily just an old poop—at least I don't think I am."

Nobody in the musical world thinks Rodgers is either. The fount of his genius still flows as clear and tuseful as it did in his youth.

"Inspiration with me isn't a matter of mood, but a matter of work and application," he said.

"If I have published a thousand melodies, I must have thrown away at least a third that many more. But that doesn't bother me. It's no trouble. There's always more."

"I never felt I was running dry. I can't wait to try the next new project. I think of life as a continuing thing—and there's always something to look forward to."

Rodgers has been so creative that some people feel he must think in musical notes instead of words. He smiles at the idea.

"With me it's a matter of expressing in music what others express in prose, color or poetry," he said. "I don't really go around thinking in music—ever."

Of his own shows, he prefers "Carousel," which many critics also rate as his best. He has no favorite among his melodies because, "there are too many of them, and they mean too many different things to me."

"At 60 I don't feel at all that I've got it made. But I have no big unrealized ambitions. I don't want to write a symphony, because I don't know how."

"What I've tried to do is touch people—and when I have, that has been my biggest satisfaction."

This is Rodgers' philosophy in his own words:

"Have pleasure, give pleasure; avoid pain, and never knowingly give pain to others."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock crash of a month ago reached into more homes than any of its predecessors. And each state in the union had more citizens directly involved than was the case in any previous major sinking spell.

The New York Stock Exchange estimates that 17 million individual Americans were involved. Its count was taken before the crash. How many stockholders may have sold out entirely on Blue Monday or in the four weeks since then—or how many new comers may have been attracted by prices finally dropping within their means—there is no way of knowing.

But on the basis of the exchange's 1962 census there were, before the crash, more minors owning stocks than three years ago—and more housewives, more clerks, more professional people and laborers.

The gain of 4.5 million individual shareowners since the previous census of 1959 was spread fairly evenly across the nation.

But California is now pushing New York for the most stockholders as well as for the most population. The West Coast state now has just over two million persons who own one or more shares of stock. New York is first with 2.3 million. Pennsylvania is third with 1.4 million, and Illinois fourth with 0.2 million.

Next in line are New Jersey with 902,000; Michigan 794,000; Ohio 791,000; Massachusetts 681,000; Florida 522,000; and Texas 517,000.

Those top 10 states with better than 11 million owners represent nearly two-thirds of the total.

But many states with smaller populations show up ahead on a per capita basis. Connecticut is first, with 18.1 per cent of its citizens owning stocks. Delaware is second with 16.8 per cent; District of Columbia 16.5 per cent; New Jersey 14.9 per cent, and Vermont 14.1 per cent—all come ahead of sixth place New York with 13.9 per cent.

The remaining four of the top 10 are Massachusetts 13.2 per cent; California 13.0 per cent; New Hampshire 12.4 per cent; and Pennsylvania 12.2 per cent. Eleventh is Maryland 11.8 per cent. Tying for 12th are Rhode Island and Illinois with 11.5 per cent each.

The spread of stock ownership across the nation during the long bull market is shown by the exchange's first census in 1952, when its estimate was 6.5 million, or one out of 16 of the total adult population at that time. The latest figure puts the percentage of stockowners at nearly one out of every six American adults. Also included as shareholders of record are 450,000 minors out of 70.4 million Americans under 21 years of age.

By virtue of an Execution Issued by the Municipal Court of Circleville, Ohio, I will offer at public sale, on Friday the 6th day of July 1962, at 2:30 o'clock P. M., at Mack Wise Garage, Rear of 344 East High Street, in said city the following Property, Goods and Chattels, to-wit:

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

A sprinkle of talcum or cornstarch can be worth a dozen miracle drugs! For chafing not only irritates; it can also turn into a germ-filled gateway to your circulation.

Watch out if you're a size 44 or a diabetes-sufferer.

Thick skin folds press tightly together, doubling friction and irritation. Every fold is vulnerable—the crease of knees and elbows between fingers and toes, under arms and breast.

And especially the groin, where moisture often accumulates. Here, soaked, soiled diapers make young children favorite targets.

Hot, humid days invite chaffing. Sopping underclothes irritate, too.

Irritation turns the skin fiery red. It burns and stings. Gradually this angry red swelling spreads out on either side of the fold. Tiny blisters may break out and ooze or bleed.

Scratching sparks extra trouble. It spreads fungus infections that mimic chafing and diaper rash. Only the microscope can tell the difference.

When ordinary germs creep in, boils and abscesses break out. Sometimes no miracle drug can kill these germs.

But you can prevent all this! Wash the rash with soap and wa-

The Wrapping Does Matter

By George Sokolsky

Miss Phyllis Flynn writes me: "Your column in today's paper of May 31st on the 'sloppy' attire of co-eds annoyed me. I am in my late twenties and I graduated from an 'important' college some time ago. I also am a strong conservative politically. But nothing irks me more than the clothes fanaticism that plagues many people these days."

"Once and for all, the clothes a person wears in college or anywhere else, is a matter of his personal choice and his personal taste. Furthermore clothes are nothing but the wrapping on the package, the cover on the book, etc. And only a fool judges a package by its wrapping, a book by its cover, etc."

True, Miss Flynn has a perfect right to tell me or anyone else to go to the devil when I say that certain styles of dress appear to me to be sloppy. I cannot deny her that right. But she cannot deny me the right to say that the wrapping on the package looks awful and that I choose not to see the contents.

And that is perhaps the whole issue of clothes and the man or woman. This Summer I shall go up to Tanglewood in the Berkshires to listen to good music and I shall see some Beatniks abandon simple cleanliness and dress as though they sought to attract attention by sloppiness, filth and ugliness. It is a way of life. Miss Flynn should have read Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus," written in another century on the subject.

If clothes are nothing more than a matter of personal choice and personal taste, why do girls dress up when they go out with a beau? Or to take the reverse, does a girl like to go out with a boy, let us say to a dance, if the boy wears a sweat-shirt and his drawers? A human being is not a bottle of whiskey or a cosmetic. But the wrapping does matter, as the lady must know. She undoubtedly once went to a prom.

Miss Flynn then moves into the realm of conservative philosophy and has this to say:

"I suggest you review the fundamental principle of conservative philosophy which is that styles, details, technology, etc. change but human nature remains the same. The clothes young men and women wear today are very different from the clothes young men and women wore when you were

A noted archeologist reports he has found 20 ancient cities in Palestine all built one atop another. Gosh, in those old days things must have been more crowded than even now!

Experts estimate that 75 per cent of the human race is undernourished. That's certainly food for thought!

The average U. S. coin, we read, lasts 30 years. Not in the average pocket — and by that we mean ours!

young but the relationships between young men and women today are basically the same as they were then. Whether you like it or not, slacks, shorts, etc. are a part of present day women's dress but fear not, they have not and will not change the relationships between men and women."

Only too often we hear that human nature is always the same and does not change for any reason whatsoever. Well, I have lived in countries where men and women accept plural marriage as normal to human nature and where the First Wife feels disgrace if the husband does not take a concubine, just as a woman, in this country, who frequents such a restaurant as Pavillon feels that she must have a diamond necklace to prove that her husband is not a pauper.

What about the human nature of the women who accept plural marriage as normal compared to the American woman who drags her husband through a court and the gossip columns and embarrasses her children if her husband looks at another woman? Is the latter mental cruelty? Or does plural marriage represent another response of human nature.

Or to take another example of human nature: Americans if they have grievances express themselves, shout, yell, write a letter to the editor or go on strike. The Russian people, under the Czars as under the Communists, take their grievances in silence and suffer. Do these people have the same human nature.

I fear that none of this has anything to do with 'the fundamental principle of conservative philosophy,' which does not regard human beings as unchangeable without the possibility for growth, development, change.

To deny this possibility is to assume that all of history is wrong and that nothing has happened to the human mind or human spirit since man found himself upon this Earth. Surely, we are neither Neanderthal nor Cro-Magnon men and women. Surely, the Judaic-Christian concept of development rests upon the growth of the human spirit.

American Lutheran Church To Make History This Week

DETROIT (AP)—American Lutheran Church history will be made here this week.

Four bodies of the Church, including the 2½-million-member United Lutheran Church of America, will merge to form the new Lutheran Church in America.

The merger, to be carried out at a constituting convention, will create a single church of an estimated 3.2 million members, or about one-third of the nation's Lutherans.

The merging groups say this will make them the sixth largest Protestant church body in the United States.

Joining together in the climax to six years of merger discussions will be the United Lutheran Church, American Evangelical Lutheran Church, Augustana Lutheran Church, and Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church—Suomi Synod.

Merger will be effected over a period from Thursday through next Sunday in ceremonies at Cobo Hall following the closing conventions of the four groups.

A thousand official delegates and several thousand visitors are expected.

Cobo Hall's big arena is to be turned into a sanctuary for Communion service. There will be a large altar at one end of the area.

The Rev. Dr. Malvin H. Lundeen of Minneapolis, president of the Augustana Evangelical Lutheran Church and chairman of the Joint Commission on Lutheran Unity, will preside over the constituting convention.

Lutheranism in the United States has about 8½ million adherents, including the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod with 2½ million members and the Wisconsin Synod and several so-called splinter groups. These are not involved in the merger.

A spokesman for the Lutheran social services of Michigan said nationality backgrounds largely distinguish between the various church bodies. He said there are no major differences in doctrine.

Augustana Lutheran is Swedish, American Evangelical is Danish and United Lutheran of German origin.

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a great day for Hugo Lafayette Black, 76, onetime cotton picker.

There he sat on the Supreme Court bench and listened to the solicitor general of the United States, tall and handsome in his cutaway coat, eulogize him.

The solicitor general, Archibald Cox, called attention to the fact that Black was completing Monday his 25th term on the high tribunal. Cox spoke on Black's contributions "to the country, to the law, and to the court."

Not a flicker of a facial muscle showed that Black enjoyed it, as he must have. Anyway, from his point of view, the best was yet to come.

For later at Monday's session he got to read—in tones of emotional solemnity—a majority decision striking a blow for his interpretation of his favorite constitutional amendment, the First.

It seems that the regents in charge of New York State public schools, being well-intentioned men, decided that a bit of religion ought to be introduced into the classroom. It took the form of a short prayer, as devoid of sectarianism as the regents could make it.

Black, with the aid of five other justices, knocked the prayer right out of the schoolroom window. The practice was, they said, wholly inconsistent with the First Amendment clause saying "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

This decision will have reverberations loud and long. Advocates of absolute separation of church and state began to hail it as soon as the headlines hit the street. Some such as Leo Pfeffer, general counsel of the American Jewish Congress, interpreted it as making clear "that federal funds may not be used to finance parochial school education."

The high court, with its present made that he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan. Speaking to the nation by radio—the first Supreme Court justice ever to do so—Black had to confess that about 15 years before he had joined the Klan but later resigned.

Much of Black's later career for this early flirtation with ugly liberalism. He worked hard to be—as he was later called by admirers of his judicial career—a "tribune of the common man," whether that man be white, black or yellow.

He stresses that the Constitution protects people in their rights. He also acknowledges that the Constitution "is language, and language is a slippery thing"—which is one reason there will be so much argument about the majority opinion Black delivered Monday.

Some accused Black of fostering godlessness, as the Kremlin does. Whatever his critics may say, Black will have no quarrel with their right to say it. He believes the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech is absolute. He even believes there should be no libel law—on this he is probably in a minority of one.

Black has come a long way since his Alabama cotton-picking days. He worked his way through law school, became a fire-eating New Deal senator, was elevated to the Supreme Court by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937.

There was one episode of rather huge embarrassment to Black. After he had been chosen for the Supreme Court, charges were

Some accused Black of fostering godliness, as the Kremlin does. Whatever his critics may say, Black will have no quarrel with their right to say it. He believes the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech is absolute. He even believes there should be no libel law—on this he is probably in a minority of one.

Black has come a long way since his Alabama cotton-picking days. He worked his way through law school, became a fire-eating New Deal senator, was elevated to the Supreme Court by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937.

There was one episode of rather huge embarrassment to Black. After he had been chosen for the Supreme Court, charges were

for this early flirtation with ugly illiberalism. He worked hard to be—as he was later called by admirers of his judicial career—a "tribune of the common man," whether that man be white, black or yellow.

He stresses that the Constitution protects people in their rights. He also acknowledges that the Constitution "is language, and language is a slippery thing"—which is one reason there will be so much argument about the majority opinion Black delivered Monday.

Dear Abby: You Can't Win — Always!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Since the track opened up I am without a boyfriend. To tell you the truth I have been stood up by a horse. He spends all his time doting the races and then he stays around the track every day the horses are running. You know you can't get hold of a man when he's at the track all the time. When the track is closed he is wonderful. Should I date the nice non-betting man who lives in my apartment? My boyfriend tells me he can't help it if he has horses' blood in his veins.

STOOD UP BY A HORSE
DEAR STOOD: Date the nice non-betting man in your building. He might not win, but I'll bet he can place and show. And when your horse lover calls you after the racing season, tell him YOU'VE got horse blood in your veins, too—and say NAY.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you, or one of your readers, would explain to me what a "double greenback" shower is. I received an invitation to one last week and haven't recovered yet. It is being sponsored by the GROOM'S parents. Someone told me it means that the guests are expected to give money to both the bride and groom. I can't believe it! Begging, that's what it is. Heaven help us!

PROUD
DEAR PROUD: Yes, a "double greenback" shower is indeed an invitation to give money to both bride and groom. And you don't have to accept every invitation you get.

DEAR ABBY: I've noticed that when you get adverse comments on your opinions, you are fair enough to print them. Well, recently, you ran a letter from a man whose wife spent hours reading the Bible and copying verses from it. He complained, "She tries to convert all our friends who are already non-drinking, church-going people." And you advised him to take her to a doctor!

I infer that you are also one of those "non-drinking, church-going people" who feels that religion consists of just that. You do not read.

Unit To Meet Friday

The Five Points Methodist Social Hour Club will hold their June meeting 8 p. m. Friday in the church basement.

A covered dish supper will precede the meeting.

Ever stuff thin slices of boneless tenderloin with ham and cheese? Secure the edges with toothpicks and fry in butter.

Ford Aides Returning To Cincinnati Plants

CINCINNATI (AP) — The vanguard of Ford Motor Co. employees returned to their jobs Monday at transmission plants in Fairfax and Sharonville following four days of idleness due to a strike at Ford's big stamping plant near Cleveland. All 1,360 Fairfax workers and 3,228 Sharonville employees are due back at work by Wednesday, plant officials said.

Over-cooking scrambled eggs usually makes them dry and rubbery, so modern recipes recommend low heat. If higher heat is used, watch your timing; if you remove them from the range the split second they are coagulated, the result will be worthwhile.

When you are baking popovers, choose a recipe that calls for two eggs to one cup of flour.

DEAR ABBY: I am sitting her with the tears running down my face. I raised two sons and a daughter. I worked my fingers to the bone for them. I wore torn shoes so they could dress nicely. ## Bass Pitches No Hit, No Run Game for GE

Kiwanis, DuPont Also Cop Wins in Babe Ruth Majors

A no-hit, no-run mound performance by Dave Bass of General Electric highlighted Babe Ruth Majors baseball play last night.

The sparkling performance of Bass, who has been used sparingly as a pitcher this year, was all the incentive GE needed to march to an 8-0 verdict over Ashville No. 1. The Lamp Plant hurler also starred at the plate.

In other Babe Ruth action, Kiwanis tripped L. M. Butch, 8-2, and league leading DuPont swept past Lindsey Bakery, 11-4.

Mike Spangler led the 16-hit Kiwanis attack with three singles in four trips to the plate. Howard Dade and Harry Hill each banded a double and a single and Terry Campbell, Tom Cassill, and Eddie Smith each socked two singles.

CASSILL was in excellent control all the way as he walked only two and gave up six scattered singles in the seven innings he pitched. He had a shut out going into the last of the seventh when the jewelers scored their two runs.

Eddie Evans led DuPont in the victory over Lindsey's. He had a double, a single and also scored two runs. Jim Moorehead blasted a triple in three trips to the plate and Tom Copland scored three runs.

Chester Hill socked a triple and single and Jim Bowser hit a double for Lindsey's.

Dave Bass pitched the first no-hit, no run game in Youth Baseball competition this season. He struck out 19 and walked none in seven innings.

Bass also had a perfect night at the plate with a triple and three singles in four trips.

Gary Stewart socked a home run and two singles. Bob Purcell a triple and a single. Bill Hill and Mick Tomlinson each had two singles to round out the GE attack.

Brown Jug Eligible Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Little Brown Jug eligible, Quick Pick, took a healthy step toward the fall racing classic Monday night at Scioto Downs when the 3-year-old colt won the co-feature in a fast 2:02. It was his second win in four starts plus one second and one third this year.

Owned by J. C. Farrell of Sandusky, Quick Pick returned $3.80. Harry paid $6 for place and Miss Pamie paid $3.60 for show.

Coke Cops Seventh Loop Tilt; Legion and IOOF Earn Wins

Coca Cola Jets maintained their stranglehold on first place in the Little League Majors by swamping Bingham's Druggers 25-5 yesterday. It was the seventh loop win for the Cokemen and the seventh loss for the Bingham nine.

The American Legion squad moved into a tie for third place with Ralton Purina by beating the Millers, 9-6 on the little league diamond at the Fairgrounds. In the Little League Minors, IOOF nailed down fourth place with a 15-12 win over Blue Ribbon.

Rick Sims, Coke pitcher, held the Bingham nine to three hits, fanning 10 in his route going performance. He gave up seven bases on balls. Harry Robinson tagged Sims for a triple, the only extra base hit the losers could get.

BINGMAN hurlers gave up seven bases on balls. They were pounded for three homers, one triple, four doubles and 16 singles by the Coke batters.

Rick Congrove paced the winning attack with a home run, two doubles and a single. Bob McNally tagged four singles.

Tom Wright belted a home run and a double and a single in four times at bat. Dale Byrd had the other Coke homer and two singles. Sims tagged the losers for three singles and scored three runs in addition to his outstanding pitching performance.

Although the outcome of the game was never in doubt after the first inning, the victors big canto was the fourth when they scored 10 runs.

The Legion was paced by Mike Melson's four hit barrage — three doubles and a single — The legionnaires led all the way after the second inning.

Purina grabbed an early lead, scoring two runs in the first inning. But the winners came back in the second with a three run offense, tallied one in the third, one in the fourth and four in the fifth to ice the game.

FRANK CARTER was the winning pitcher, going all the way for the Legion. He fanned 11, gave up five bases on balls and allowed six runs on six hits.

Andrew Blanton was the loser. He fanned five and walked five, and allowed two hits. He was aided by Lester Thimes who fanned three, gave up two bases on balls, and was tagged for five hits.

Bill Boltenhouse, Legion shortstop, banded two doubles and scored one run. Phil Diehl, with a triple and a single and Jim Leasure with two doubles led the Purina offense.

The IOOF blasted Blue Ribbon pitchers, Dave Dollinson and Marion Long for 18 hits, while Bowers and Gregg White limited the Dairyman to seven. Dannie Fausnauga was the big gun for the winners. In five official trips to the plate he slammed three home runs and a single.

Rick Jacobs was credited with a triple and three singles. Bob Bailey led the losers with a single and a double.

Western Open Course Tough

No Bragging Heard As Golf Stars Prep

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf's big dealers began practice today for the Western Open over the timbered acreage of the Medinah No. 3 course and none was expected to do much bragging about his scores.

Those who faced the expanse of trap and broad greens at Oakmont in the National Open now are bucking a wandering 7,110 yard cut through enough forestland to make a lumberjack drool.

Par 36-37 on the rugged layout isn't going to take much of a beating, and many a player would settle for something like 281 to take the championship when the 72-hole meet ends Sunday.

The last big tournament on the so-called "monster course" was the 1949 National Open won by Cary Middlecoff with 286 on rounds of 75-67-69-75. The 67 still remains the course record.

Although Jack Nicklaus and the man he defeated in a playoff for the National Open June 17, Arnold Palmer, share the favorite's role, some of the lesser power-hitters may find the course more to their liking.

"Maneuverability off the tees is required more than distance," says Medinah pro Jack Bell. "And the most important shots will be from the tees. I don't see this tournament as a putting contest."

"A player must maneuver the ball from right to left, or left to right. There are eight doglegs that demand precision spotting from the tees to set up second shots."

The 59th Western Open will start Thursday with a field of 136 players. Nicklaus and Palmer will be in competition against each other for the first time since the National Open.

Yale's oldest football rival this season will be Columbia. They first met in 1872. Yale leads in wins, 29 to 10. They have never played a tie.

Wimbledon Agog as Ladies Sport New High Fashion

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—The ladies took the court today in the 76th Wimbledon Tennis Championships, which may be remembered as the tournament of the backless top.

Not since Gussie Moran's lace panties startled the Wimbledon throngs in 1949 has there been so much advance excitement about the female form.

Gussie's flippant finery was designed by Teddy Tinling. The same man is behind the latest revolution in fashion, which will drop backs revealingly, exposing a good deal more of the female figure than can easily be remembered in these parts.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, twice the women's titleholder, has a dress plunging at the rear to within an inch of her tiny waist.

Hemlines, Tinling reported, will be about six inches above the knee—which is some five inches higher than in Miss Moran's day. Pleats are out this year, ruffled ribbons are in.

The ladies opened their Wimbledon campaign with Margaret Smith of Australia a firm favorite to clinch the singles title on her second attempt. The holder of the Australia, Italian and French Championships has been beaten only once this year — by Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif.

Darlene Hard of Long Beach (No. 2) and Miss Bueno (No. 3) are the main threats — although the Brazilian girl, Wimbledon champion in 1959 and 1960, has shown uncertain form this year.

The championships opened before a crowd of 20,251 Monday with Chuck McKinley of St. Ann.

Mo., last year's losing finalist, leading seven Americans into the second round of the men's singles.

McKinley outpowered a 20-year-old Australian, Owen French, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1, but on balance it was a bad day for Uncle Sam. Eight Americans, including the veteran Gardner Mulloy, were knocked out in the opening skirmishes and a ninth—Ed Rubinoff of Miami—had his match suspended because of darkness.

Rod Laver, Australian titleholder, and favorite here got off to an impressive start with a comfortable 7-5, 6-1, 6-2 victory over the Indian Davis Cupper Nareth Kumar.

Pastrano Itching For 'Big Daddy'

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A return match between Willie Pastrano and "big daddy" Archie Moore had New Orleans boxing promoters buzzing today with more "ifs" involved than an American-Russian agreement on Berlin.

Pastrano, a product of the New Orleans French Market who now lives in Miami Beach, came home for the first time in six years and earned an easy 10-round decision over willing but outgunned Irish Billy Ryan Monday night.

"Man, I just gotta fight Moore again," Pastrano said in the dressing room. "I just want to fight, but I gotta get another shot at Moore. He's the big daddy, you know. And that's where the money is."

LOW-COST ELECTRICITY SERVES YOU FOR JUST PENNIES A DAY!

As you read this message, take a look around you. Quickly check off how many electrical products serve you. Lamps, TV, radio, stereo sets. In your kitchen — electric range, dishwasher, food waste disposer and many small appliances. In your laundry — electric dryer, washer, electric hot water heater.

Isn't it surprising how the list of flameless, fumeless electrical servants grows? It's surprising, too, that for all this day and night electrical service, your electric bill remains low. For comfort, convenience, safety, and value, nothing measures up to electricity!

1. Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings and cards received from our relatives, neighbors and many friends in our sad bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Virgil Brown. We especially wish to thank Pastor Carl Zeiner and Rev. George L. Troutman for their comforting words, the Debraugh Funeral Home and the Pallbearers, Mrs. Virgil Brown and family.

I wish to thank my neighbors, friends and relatives for their cards, flowers, prayers, and thoughtful letters during my confinement in the Riverside Hospital and since my return home.

Special thanks to Ted Koch, Ed Hulce, Ted Salvers, Bruce Valentine, Phil Munson, Harry Erms, Richard Koch, Galen Moser, Loren Alexander, Guy Boyer, Bob Azbell, James Whitbrook and Oscar Allen, for planting my corn, making my hay and the other work done on the farm.

It is appreciated more than words can ever express. I can only say it is friends like you that make a person proud to be an American. Thank you each and every one. Tom Boyer Jr.

Cardinal Relief Ace Saves Another Tilt for St. Louis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lindy McDaniel, a workhorse right-hander rapidly reaffirming his position as one of the acknowledged leaders of baseball's relief pitchers union, may be just about ready to hoist his placard and campaign for a shorter work week.

Continuing his comeback, the St. Louis Cardinals' relief ace trudged out of the bullpen Monday for his third appearance in four days, blanked Calico on two singles for the final 3-2-3 innings and preserved a 6-4 victory over the Cubs.

The "Fireman of the Year" in 1960 with a 12-4 record and a 2.09 earned run average in 65 games, the 26-year-old McDaniel slipped to 10-6 last year as his ERA ballooned to 4.88. He got off to a slow start this season, but in his last 10 outings has been virtually untouchable.

During that stretch, McDaniel has allowed only nine hits and has not yielded a walk, keeping the opposition from scoring for 25 1-3 innings and lowering his ERA to an outstanding 2.37.

The triumph was the fifth in seven games for the fourth-place Cards and moved them within 6½ games of National League leading Los Angeles, beaten by Milwaukee 6-4. San Francisco crept to within a half-game of the Dodgers by whipping Cincinnati 3-1 behind Billy O'Dell's five-hitter, and third-place Pittsburgh cobbled the New York Mets 13-3 to pull within 5½ of the top. Philadelphia edged Houston 4-3.

Hank Aaron got the job done for the Braves, hitting a two-run homer in the sixth before his seventh inning single capped a three-run uprising and drove in the run that sent the Dodgers down to their fourth loss in the last five games. Tommy Davis went 5-for-5 for Los Angeles with a double and four singles, tying for the league batting lead with Stan Musial of the Cards at .342. The triumph went to Carl Willey (1-3). Ron Ferranski (3-2) took the loss.

In the only game scheduled in the American League, the New York Yankees defeated Detroit 2-0.

The Cubs moved ahead of the Cards in the third when Ernie Banks tied for the league home run lead with the Giants' Willie Mays by tagging his 21st, with two on. St. Louis battled back, finally cracking a 3-3 tie in the sixth with two runs on a double by Ken Boyer, Carl Sawatski's triple and a wild pitch by loser Glen Hobbie (1-0). The Cubs put men on first and third in the bottom half but McDaniel came on to get Lou Brock and Ken Hubbs on force plays to end the threat and save it for Ray Washburn (5-3).

O'Dell (8-6) allowed the Reds only singles, and an unearned run in the third inning when Marty Keough singled after Harvey Kuenn dropped Wally Moe's fly for a two-base error. It was the third consecutive low-hit complete game triumph for the Cardinals' staff. Willie Mays broke a 1-1 tie in the third, reaching base on a fielders' choice, taking second on Willie McCovey's single, stealing third despite a pitchout and crossing on Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly, off Jim Maloney (2-2).

Smoky Burgess pounded Met hurriers for a triple, double and single, driving in four runs as the Pirates lashed 15 hits in support of Vern Law (5-3). Roberto Clemente, with three singles, and Don Hoak each knocked in three runs as Law scattered eight hits and came within one strikeout of tying the club record. He fanned 11, most in his 10-year major league career. The loser was Craig Anderson (3-7).

Tony Taylor hit his third single with one out in the last of the ninth, sending Bob Wine home from second with the winning run for the Phillies. Reliever Dallas Green (2-2) won it with one hit relief over the four innings and Hal Woodeschick (2-5) lot it. Roman Mejias hit home run No. 19 for Houston.

NEW YORK (AP)—One of Hollywood's brightest and most outrageous spirits has taken up 13 weeks' residence in New York, delighted at an opportunity to head a summer replacement show.

That attitude, alone, marks Jim Backus as a non-conformist. "People in Hollywood reacted as if I planned to spend the summer in Rangoon," he related, "and most of them were the ones who carry on about adoring New York because of the museums, the chamber music—chamber music!—and good conversation. That's a lot of nonsense—a performer goes where there's work to be done."

Backus, who crept into American hearts as the voice of a near-sighted and winsome little cartoon character named Mr. McGoo, will take over next week as host on a revival of CBS' "Talent Scout" program. It will replace "The Garry Moore Show" on Tuesday nights starting July 3.

That is only part of the busy Backus' schedule: he also is signed for some sort of work on NBC' "Monitor" radio show.

He and his wife have their third book "What Are You Doing After the Orgy?" in the stores.

He has just finished making a holiday special, an adaptation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" in which Mr. McGoo plays Scrooge. Recently, too, he's been busy acting in movies—dramatic parts—and he is highly visible in reruns of series made in past years. So New York is almost a vacation for this active man.

Backus' first plunge into television consisted of 117 shows called "I Married Joan," in which he played the dignified judge married to comedienne Joan Davis, who has since died. The last program was made in 1955—and the series is still playing around the country.

"The people who made that series certainly had an eye for the future—particularly for getting future sponsors," Backus said. "We lived in a vacuum and in an absolutely sterile household. I never smoked—not even a pipe—so there was no problem with tobacco. We never drank, of course—when we wanted to be hospitable, we'd offer guests some fruit. We never drove a car, and only once did we crack a topical joke—we mentioned Truman."

"The only way people can tell how old those shows are is by looking at my suits and my haircut—it started out long and we are acceptable to anybody who wants to sponsor us."

Later Backus was mixed up in a comedy series called "Headline Press," which was syndicated and is still seen.

"I would like to do one more series—one that would be sold to a network and would go on for at least three years," Backus said. "That would be financial security."

Recommended tonight: "Garry Moore Show," CBS, 10-11 (EDT)—final show of the season.

The Duke golf course in Durham N. C., measures 6,828 yards.

Supreme Court Prayer Rule Is Under Fire

Leo Pfeffer, general counsel of the American Jewish Congress, said he feels it was consistent with earlier Supreme Court decisions "that the Constitution requires an absolute separation of church and state and a secular public school system."

Pfeffer went further in his interpretation of the decision, saying that it "makes it clear that federal funds may not be used to finance parochial school education."

This was in reference to the administration's legislation for aid to public schools with parochial schools excluded.

Roman Catholic Church leaders have contended that church schools should also receive aid. President Kennedy has taken the position that it would be unconstitutional to grant aid to religious schools.

Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., a supporter of the Kennedy school aid bill—now bottled up in the House Rules Committee—said, "I can see no analogy" between the prayer decision and the constitutionality of federal aid to church schools.

Evangelist Billy Graham said of toward the secularization of the United States. Followed to its logical conclusion, we will have to take the chaplains out of the armed forces, prayers can not be said in Congress, and the President can not put his hand on the Bible when he takes the oath of office. The framers of the Constitution meant we were to have freedom of religion, not freedom from religion."

In New York, Francis Cardinal Spellman said he was shocked and frightened.

"The decision strikes at the very heart of the godly tradition in which America's children have for so long been raised," he declared.

The U.S. Supreme Court decision against the recitation of official prayers in public schools is viewed by some groups as a challenge to many type of religious observances in the schools.

These observances include Bible readings, the Lord's Prayer, Christmas carols and plays, Easter plays and other religious practices permitted in some states.

Twenty attorneys general from other states told the court that the 22-word New York prayer did not violate the Constitution.

However, the New York Civil Liberties Union, which sponsored the case brought by five Long Island parents, called the decision a "milestone in the development of the guarantee of separation of church and state."

William J. Butler, the lawyer who led the attack, said the strength of the court's 6-1 opinion and the comparative mildness of the prayer add up to probable philosophy in the court against using public school facilities for any type of religious observances.

Alan Reitman, assistant executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union, of which the New York Union is a branch, said the decision may end religious observances in all types of public schools.

Two other similar cases have been tried recently—in Abington Township, Pa., and Dade County, Fla. In both cases, parents brought suits against local school boards, objecting to the recitation of the Lord's Prayer and to the reading of the Bible.

A special federal court in Pennsylvania declared the Abington Township requirements unconstitutional and the case was appealed to the Supreme Court. The Florida Supreme Court upheld the Dade County Board of Education. Pfeffer, who tried the Florida case, said he will appeal it.

All three school boards have argued, in line with a former Supreme Court opinion, "that we are a religious nation whose institutions presuppose the existence of a Supreme Being."

They cite the Declaration of Independence; the national motto, "In God We Trust"; the Star-Spangle Banner, and the opening call of the Supreme Court itself, "God save this honorable court."

After the Supreme Court decision was announced Monday, New York State Education Commissioner James E. Allen announced that prayer so that it could continue be halted.

However, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said he hoped that adjustments could be made in the prayer so that it could continue

Pilot Error Blamed in Fatal Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board Monday procedure" for the light-plane crash near Georgetown, Ohio, that killed a St. Louis, Mo., couple and their daughter and injured their three other children 10 months ago.

The CAB accident report said evidence indicated that the pilot, Thomas P. Hughes, 33, became lost on a night flight from St. Louis to Cincinnati in the rented Cessna plane last Aug. 25, and attempted an emergency landing.

The board said that 3½ hours after takeoff from St. Louis the plane circled an area near Georgetown which was "about 40 miles beyond Cincinnati for the normal route of flight involved."

Having flown far past his destination and running low on fuel, lights, apparently selected a field and tried to land, the board said.

"During the approach the aircraft, truck trees, went out of control and crashed with great force," it added.

"Examination of the wreckage revealed no evidence of malfunction or failure of the aircraft prior to impact."

Hughes, an executive of the Emerson Electric Manufacturing Co., his wife, Elaine, 31, and their 11-year-old daughter, Marlene, were found dead in or near the demolished airplane.

Thomas, 12, Leslie, 8, and Martin, 4, survived. The family had recently moved from Cincinnati to St. Louis, and had planned to live in Norwood, a Cincinnati suburb.

to be used in the schools.

Some states expressed disagreement with the Supreme Court decision.

The superintendent of education in Alabama, W. A. LeCroy, said he feels schools should keep religious practices "regardless of what the Supreme Court says."

South Carolina Atty. Gen. Daniel McLeod said prayers in his state are up to the classroom teachers. He said he was in vigorous disagreement with the decision.

In Michigan, the state attorney general ruled two years ago that Bible classes may not be given in public schools—even at the lunch hour.

In Boston, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education Owen B. Kiernan said he feels the court has not ruled that Bible reading in schools is unconstitutional.

"The law of the commonwealth regarding the reading of the Bible is on the books and stands as of this moment," he said.

The list extends from being pinched for her New York play "Sextette" to having her "Person to Person" segment dropped by CBS because her mirrored bedroom and nude portraits were deemed too racy for the home screen.

"Very interesting," she commented on the record ban. "I guess they thought it was a little too suggestive. Can't understand that."

She indicated that she would get her career going again, what with the record and forthcoming album, "Peel Me a Grape." She might deliver the new songs in the flesh, so to speak, on a night club tour. Also cooking: a possible picture in Rome, an animated (what else) television series called "Little Mae, the Wickedest Woman in the World."

Mae had some observations about the current Hollywood situation, in which stars are accused of sabotaging the film industry by their high demands and low work habits.

"I think the answer might be to give these stars a percentage of the profits rather than big salaries," she observed. "Then the studios can make the pictures more reasonably and the stars might behave better, knowing added cost would cut into their profits."

"Personally, I never had any problems. I was always on time and tried to save money; I learned that early, because my mother put up the money for my first shows."

"I never got a percentage of the profits on my pictures because Paramount was in bankruptcy litigation and couldn't give it to me. I got the studio out of trouble. I made 'She Done Him Wrong' in three weeks when most pictures were taking 12 and 15. It made a fortune."
